October sees the kickoff of both the Pro Organo season and our social and educational programming. So now, after settling into our fall routines, we can get out to hear some great organ music and visit with our fellow RCCO members.

Pro Organo is up first, on Friday, October 13th – why not buy season tickets if you are planning to come out to all four concerts? Season tickets can be purchased online as well as at the door on October 13th.

Donations are also welcome to support this concert series.

Our first social event comes up the next weekend, on Saturday October 21st, at 10:30 am. I don't know about you, but I often feel I need a break for tea and a "second breakfast" at about this time, so 10:30 sounds like a perfect time to meet, and then you're free for practicing in the afternoon. Hope you can make it out to one or both of these events! Happy Thanksgiving!

Centre Events

IAN GUENETTE AND SONDRA GOLDSMITH PROCTOR

Saturday, October 21 at 10:30 a.m.

A wonderful reprise of the Welcome Back! event that Suzanne Marjerrison has arranged for us will be a breakfast/brunch at the Chances R restaurant. How often do you have time to socialize with colleagues when you are not totally exhausted? Meet some new people. Take time for a real conversation before the activities of the fall absorb all of us. Additional information can be found below.

Saturday, December 2 at 2:00 p.m.

You're invited to join us for a joint, co-sponsored event with School of Anglican Studies at St. Paul's Seminary and RCCO-Ottawa Centre. Did you know that Joshua Zentner-Barrett is the Director of Music for Anglican Studies? This will be an excellent opportunity to share what each of us is planning for Advent and Christmas and to learn more about the program at St. Paul's. We will have an opportunity to play our special music on the pipe organ in the beautiful St. Paul Seminary Chapel. Further details, including bus routes, will be published in the upcoming issues of Pipelines.

On Saturday, January 27 at 10 a.m.

we will hold an online Cafe RCCO on Zoom with Donald Russell speaking on Principles for Making Informed Decisions about our Musical Technique. Have you thought about how your technique has evolved over the years? We all need to evaluate our technique from time to time. Dr. Russell will help focus our thinking.

For February we will be collaborating on repertoire for Lent and Easter. We will announce the date and venue very soon.

Saturday, April 6 is International Organ Day. There will be several programs showcasing the organ. If you are interested in presenting, please contact Sondra Goldsmith Proctor.

On Saturday, May 11 we will gather at St. Andrew's Church for the Great Bach Marathon. This year there will be three tracks. Many grown-ups have expressed interest in the organ but have not had the opportunity to learn about how all the parts function. So we are providing an opportunity for adults who wish to explore and learn about the organ to do so. Of course, we will invite children to learn about the King of Instruments as well. We'll conclude with many offerings of Bach's organ repertoire.

If you wish to have a topic for our Centre programme discussed, please be in touch with a member of the Programme/Education Committee to discuss your thoughts. As always, we are always grateful to Suzanne Marjerrison for coordinating the refreshments at many of the Centre's events. We also thank the venues for welcoming us, and look forward to sharing more event details with you as the year progresses.

Please Support Pro Organo

GILLES LECLERC

Hi RCCO members! For the first time since before the pandemic, Pro Organo is back again, offering a full season of four recitals for the 2023-24! Throughout the pandemic years, as you will recall, Pro Organo was forced to operate first by offering only occasional individual on-line concerts, and then by offering only individual stand-alone live recitals. Now we are fully back in action with a complete season!

The Pro Organo Recital Series depends entirely on its subscribers and generous patrons for its financial success, as organ recitals never break even at the door of the concerts. So we, the members of the Pro Organo Committee, led by Gilles Leclerc, strongly encourage you to support this new season by purchasing season tickets, and by making generous donations. Patrons will be recognized in the programmes for all the concerts.

It is the sale of season tickets and the gifts of donations that will enable the Pro Organo Recital Series, now in its thirty-fifth season, to thrive and prosper as Canada's longest-running organ recital series. Please help our Centre to continue to offer first-class concerts, on beautiful organs, played by wonderful professional organists from international, national, and local sources.

And please remember too that we use projectors and screens to show the guest organists when the consoles are hidden from view in the galleries – it's much more fun to watch!

Please bring your friends and neighbours to our upcoming Pro Organo programmes. This series is a large part of our way of demonstrating the enormous value of the organ and its music to Ottawa audiences, as well as to our own membership – it plays a huge role in extending our outreach to the wider public audience! We depend upon your support!

You can make a patron donation through the RCCO Ottawa Centre website, rcco-ottawa.ca – just go to the Home Page, press the Donate button, and select Pro Organo. For further information, you can call 613-255-1394 or send an e-mail to ProOrgano@rcco-ottawa.ca.

Give Thanks in all Circumstances!

All week as I walked by the river – I am fortunate that I live close to the Island Park Bridge – I have so enjoyed the sight of the Michaelmas daisies growing on all sides of the path! These indeed are named for the Saint's Day, St Michael and All Angels, which falls on September 29th. So entranced have I been by these flowers, that I have found myself being drawn to focus in my Pipelines article on their vibrant beauty in this year of 2023; and on the Saint's Day for which they are named. Hence, I sent pictures of the flowers to our editor, and indicated that he should watch for my article that was coming!

I gradually realized that I might wish to go this route with my article, but in fact Pipelines would be coming out to celebrate the Feast of Thanksgiving! Indeed, I looked at the articles I had written the previous two years and saw that I had faithfully focused on the coming long weekend when we shall give thanks.

So having set the context of my offering this year – a deeply purple and meditative context, no less – I find myself being drawn to understand our October 8 celebration with the words, 'Give Thanks in All Circumstances.' These words speak to my experience of reading The Hiding Place, by Corrie Ten Boom.*

Corrie tells the story of the challenging journey she and her late sister Betsy experienced during their imprisonment in concentration camps during the Second World War. What so deeply assisted them through this experience was that they had managed to smuggle into the prison at least one gospel in paperback!

And there came the day when Corrie returned from her work detail to find Betsy who, with her weak health, was confined to quarters. Betsy met her at the door with great joy. She exclaimed that she had discovered why they could indeed give thanks in all circumstances, even for the fleas that infested their barracks causing all the women great discomfort. She explained that earlier in the day, the guards had come to make their usual inspection of the barracks. They had clearly avoided entering too deeply into their quarters because of the fleas. Betsy saw how this freed herself and her sister, and indeed their fellow residents, to use the space in their quarters beyond the entrance in ways that assisted them all to survive these endless days of imprisonment. The guards would only inspect so far into their space.

Give thanks in all circumstances! is a challenging injunction from the First Letter of Paul to the Thessalonians (5: 18). How do these words speak to us, I wonder, through our days? And how may they assist us in our journey – whatever our circumstances – one step at a time?
